

Criteria for a GRSO to Book a Meeting Space in Weimer Hall

General Registered Student Organizations may reserve meeting space in Weimer Hall through the Dean's office if they meet the following criteria:

- Must be registered and in good standing with the Office of Student Activities and Involvement.
- A College of Journalism and Communications faculty or full-time staff member designated as the organization's official advisor.
- The organization has a focus on professional development within the journalism or communication industry.
- The organization's constitution must have an academic mission that aligns with the academic disciplines of the College of Journalism and Communications.
- The registration must be made by an executive board member who is listed on the registration documents with Student Activities and Involvement.
- The e-board member making the reservation must have a valid UFID and be enrolled and in good standing at the university during the time of reservation.
- The e-board member making the reservation should also be enrolled as a degree seeking student within the College of Journalism and Communications. This would include the undergraduate majors of Journalism, Advertising, Public Relations, and Media Production, Management, and Technology. Students pursuing a MA degree or PhD from the College of Journalism and Communications would also qualify.
